Sectional Little League champs open play in Novato tomorrow

With seven consecutive wins in tournament play already tucked under their belts, the hustling Campbell Little League all-stars, winners of the sectional title, begin play in the division tournament in Novato tomorrow.

Campbell opens against Citrus Heights at 6 p.m. Four sectional champs will be battling for the right to enter the regional tournament in San Lorenzo (Aug. 18-20), the last step before the world series which is held in Williamsport, Pa. (Aug. 23-27).

The bus transporting Campbell's Little Leaguers to Novato is scheduled to leave the Rosemary School field at 1 p.m. Thursday.

Many of the team's supporters are also planning to drive to the Marin County city on Thursday.

Winners of the two preliminary skirmishes (Thursday and Friday) will meet on Saturday afternoon in Novato.

The sectional championship was decided on the Campbell Little League field at Rosemary School last Saturday afternoon when the locals defeated Menlo Park 4-0 behind the no-hit pitching of Gary Yamamoto.

Yamamoto, the smallest player on the all-stars, who also plays second base, had his curve-ball really going for him on Saturday. He fanned 10 Menlo Park players and allowed only one batter to reach first base (on a walk in the second).

Steve Davis turned in a sparkling game at shortstop and picked up two of Campbell's five hits, scoring three of the four runs. Ed Wehr, steady receiver, was behind the plate in all three sectional wins.

WATSONVILLE

To gain the finals on Saturday, Campbell defeated Watsonville Nationals 5-1 on Tuesday and Burlingame Southern on Friday 5-1. All the sectional games were played at the Rosemary field where Campbell was host to five other district champs, Menlo Park, Burlingame, Watsonville, San Jose Mayfair, and Mountain View.

Burlingame defeated San Jose Mayfair 7-1 in the consolation game on Saturday morning.

To win the opening game on Tuesday afternoon against Watsonville, Campbell had come from behind. Watsonville took a one run lead in the second but Campbell scored two runs in the fourth and wrapped it up with three more in the fifth.

Kelley Davis was on the mound for Campbell and struck out 11 Watsonville batters in pitching in a four hit job. He also slammed a homer in the fifth.

Mitch Vierra also got a homer with a man

Drive-in theatre

City to sue

It is now going to be up to the courts to decide the case of the unwanted (from Campbell's standpoint) drive-in theater proposed for Union Ave. in a county 'island' with access only through property within the city limits.

Legal machinery began whirring this week in earnest as the City Council gave the go-ahead signal to get a court decision on a question that could have far-reaching significance in future city-county relations.

Former Mayor Richard W. Morton, of Campbell, a prominent San Jose attorney, will be associated with Campbell City Attorney Joseph Bonacina in the legal action that was started this week by the city to prevent the drive-in theater from locating on Union Ave.

The first legal blow on behalf of the city will be struck this Friday, Bonacina told the City Council, when an injunction suit restraining the construction and operation of a drive-in theater on the Andrew Scorsur property on Union Ave. will be filed in the superior court by the city's legal advisors.

Following the issuance of the temporary restraining order a hearing will be held to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not be issued.

Bonacina received the

Kiwanis Club flies youngsters Saturday

Sponsored by the Campbell Kiwanis Club and Pacific Southwest Airlines, approximately 90 youngsters next Saturday, Aug. 13 will have the opportunity to view the Santa Clara Valley from an unusual perspective.

They will fly over it.

The youngsters (plus a number of adults) will be on the flight of "The Good Ship Lollipop" and will take off on a 20-minute tour of the valley from the San Jose Municipal Airport in a Lockheed Electra Jet at 11:20 a.m.

Tickets for the flight cost $4.50, according to Steve Goodman, club president, and proceeds will be used exclusively for the club's youth activities.

These activities include the sponsorship of a foreign exchange student, a Korean youth, Boy Scouts, YMCA programs and counseling services in the high schools.

This youth activity benefit next Saturday is made possible through the courtesy of Pacific Southwest Airlines. Passengers on the plane, which holds 98 persons, will be greeted by a regular flight crew including stewardesses. The flight pattern calls for passing over the Santa Clara Valley in a circular route.

Many of the passengers in all probability will be able to look down on their own homes and neighborhood.

Proposed ordinance could control cats

Campbell may finally get some teeth in an ordinance that will control the number of cats and their activities and alleviate a nuisance problem that has developed in some areas of the city.

That is, provided City Attorney Joe Bonacina can draft the proper legislation similar to that in effect in the county and other cities.

Bonacina was directed by the City Council Monday night to draw up control measures for both cats and bees. The direction came after it was emphatically explained to the city attorney by Fire Chief George Maxwell and others that lack of proper legislation, especially for cats, had created a serious nuisance problem in some neighborhoods particularly on Maple Ave. in the city.

Bonacina had indicated that he disliked legislation for control of any isolated problem but conceded that the Maple Ave. situation, as described, apparently had become increasingly worse in the past two years and needed to be corrected.

It was explained that until the city adopts such legislation the County Health Department cannot enforce the control of cats within the city limits.

It was also reported that the need for the control of bees had become apparent. Nine cases had been reported in the city during the year involving bees.

The City Council also on Monday turned down the appeal of Martin Fierra of Martin Plumbing on Dell Ave. who had protested the conditions existing in the wood sale yard operated by Harry Kuhn, of 135 Dell Ave.

Fierra claimed that stacks of wood were unorderly and unattractive and he felt that unless the appearance of the yard was improved, there would be

THIS COUNTY'S ambitious expressway program which got off the ground with a $70 million bond issue in 1961 is going to soon be put to the acid test.

Another bond issue, this time for $112 million, is proposed for next February to finance Phase II of the county expressway system.

To unravel the intricate methods used in this state to finance streets and highways is as difficult as finding one's way onto the proper cloverleaf on some of the more complicated freeways.

-O-

THE COUNTY expressway system is a separate operation from the network of freeways in the state. Basically the objective of the county program is to move traffic smoothly in the county and, of course, to tie in with any freeway that happens to be around.

To add spice (to use the term loosely) to the situation, there are streets and expressways built and maintained by cities which have nothing to do with either the county or the state.

Much of the city street work is done with funds received from gas tax revenues.

Because one can get as badly entangled in the complications of financing roads as one can by taking the wrong off-ramp off a freeway let's get back onto that county expressway system where we were three or four paragraphs ago.

-O-

ON MONDAY, August 22, the City Council has scheduled an informal public hearing on the proposed Phase II of the county expressway program which will be financed by the $112 million bond issue.

Although San Tomas Expressway is probably the only expressway with which the citizens of Campbell are on speaking terms, there are a number of such projects in the county.

But the hearing called by the council will be confined to what is involved for San Tomas Expressway in Phase II.

-O-

IT HAS BEEN reported that this will include adding two more lanes to the present four and constructing the Hamilton interchange. Campbell's "share" of this improvement as an "expressway city" is estimated at $2,400,000.

The question has been raised as to what is the advantage for Campbell to be an "expressway city" in this Phase II program.

In other words, why should the expressway be improved so people can rush through town in a hurry while the good citizens of Campbell jog along over unimproved throughfares in their own city?

Have you the answer to that one? We haven't.

Non-expressway city?

That informal public hearing the City Council has scheduled for Monday, Aug. 22, on the proposed Phase II of the county expressway program has taken on a greater significance since the last Planning Commission meeting.

The City Council has been asked by the county Public Works Department, through the County Transportation Policy Committee, to review the proposed Phase II program which is slated to be financed by a $112 million bond issue next February.

The council has been asked to make this city's recommendation of the program to the county committee by the first of next month.

From the various recommendations made by the cities, it is then assumed that the county committee, through its various technical subcommittees, will come up with an overall proposal to be presented to the supervisors. The supervisors then will call for the $112 million bond issue based on this program.

As you recall, Phase I of the expressway program, which included the building of the four-lane San Tomas Expressway through Campbell, was financed by a $70 million bond issue.

It was an ambitious undertaking. Some unique formulas were developed in order to assure that those cities without any expressways within their city limits would also get a slice of the overall bond issue melon.

A so-called "non-expressway city" could receive up to 70% of its "share" for improvement of city streets.

To be specific, Los Gatos, for example under Phase I, was able to get a portion of Blossom Hill Road improved.

The first proposal as drafted by the County Public Works Department for Phase II apparently assumes the same formula will be continued.

Thus there will be "expressway cities" and "non-expressway cities".

At the Planning Commission meeting it was explained that Campbell's "share" as an "expressway city" in the overall issue would be approximately $2,400,000 for improvements.

That would be the approximate cost, it was pointed out, for adding two more lanes to San Tomas Expressway through town and building the interchange at Hamilton and the expressway.

Many of the commissioners wondered just where Campbell would benefit from such a proposal.

The additional two lanes on San Tomas Expressway and the Hamilton interchange, some of the commissioners emphasized, would be more benefit to through traffic than to Campbell residents who travel mostly on Campbell streets.

In other words, Campbell's so-called "share" would hurry traffic through town. Much of this through traffic would be composed of residents in "non-expressway cities" who would get double benefit: (1) a fast way home and (2) getting their own city streets improved through this rather wild, in our opinion, 70%-formula.

What would be wrong in Campbell becoming a "non-expressway city" in the Phase II program? That was asked by some of the commissioners.

This idea may have considerable merit. At least it would be worth exploring.

We have no idea how a city becomes a "non-expressway city" and thus eligible for the 70%-kick back.

But in our selfish way of thinking, as to the most benefit for Campbell taxpayers, we believe that the improvement of Campbell streets to the present expressway would be more beneficial to this community than by adding two more lanes to San Tomas Expressway so that more people could scoot through our town that much faster.

The Planning Commission next Monday, Aug. 15, hopes to draft some sort of recommendation to be made to the City Council at the hearing on Aug. 22. This will be quite a chore.

At this same hearing, interested citizens and representatives of various civic organizations have been invited to make their feelings known.

We submit that all of us should give some thought to this idea of becoming a "non-expressway city" for the purpose of the Phase II program.

We concede that even should the $112 million bond issue be passed in February that three to five years will elapse before any major construction of Phase II gets under way.

We realize that by then the traffic could be so heavy on the present San Tomas Expressway that the demand for relief of the traffic jams would be so emphatic that it could not be ignored.

It is conceivable, we suppose, that we could be in the forefront then yelling for something to be done.

But without a crystal ball, we feel that four expressway traffic lanes, plus the freeway, plus Bascom could get the north-south traffic THROUGH our town adequately.

Maybe by being a "non-expressway city" we could get some help on the neglected east-west routes.

complicated formula devised to get the support from cities in which the expressways don't reach, get a pretty fair financial break.

These cities get funds to improve some of their own streets from the county bond issue.

So, what's wrong in having Campbell designated as a "non-expressway city" in Phase II?

We would be in quite an exclusive group. Move over, Monte Sereno, Los Gatos and Saratoga.

-O-

THAT HEARING on August 22 could develop into a real educational (?) set-to. Undoubtedly there are many varied and sundry opinions about the whole program. But not all of them can be expressed publicly, fortunately.

The proposal for Phase II has been developed mainly by the County Public Works Department, headed by James T. Pott.

Someone has suggested a name for all these preliminary skirmishes involving the project: OPERATION POT-SHOTS.

GERMAN shepherd is a popular breed of dog, as we all know. Through the years there have been countless stories about their deeds and their devotion to their owners.

Recently you may recall that one of the main clues that led to the arrest of the gal who held up a local service station was that the hold-up victim noticed that a German shepherd sat placidly in the car waiting for the moll to finish her hold-up job.

We thought at the time when Police Chief John Morgan and Sgt. Ron Eddlemon arrested the suspect that having a German shepherd as an "accessory" (after all the dog was in the car) was a trifle incongruous.

GERMAN shepherds have been known for years as "police dogs". That time the dog was on the other side.

The German shepherd also loves to play in its lumbering way. Brent Ulrich, the top guy in the back shop of The Press, owns "El Toro", a young black German shepherd. Brent reported recently that his dog suffered an injury while participating in a ball game.

He got smacked on the jaw during batting practice and had to be taken to the vets.

On the other hand, Cliff Cassiday, formerly associated with The Press, told us that a few days ago while he was walking along minding his own business, a big German shepherd came bounding toward him and for no apparent reason jumped up and nipped Cliff in the nose.

So you win a few and you lose a few.

enthusiastic endorsement of the City Council on Monday to take whatever legal steps necessary to prevent the drive-in theater from becoming a reality. Council members heartily endorsed Morton's association with the city attorney in the case.

In his report to the City Council, Bonacina emphasized that the city's objective was solely in the public interest of its citizens and that no private interests could be involved in the case.

He clearly indicated that neither he nor Morton would carry the the city's legal banner unless that point was understood by all concerned.

The legal action now is necessary, Bonacina explained, because all other means of protest have been exhausted.

HOGAN REPORTS

Dick Hogan, planning director, who has been in the forefront in all the preliminary skirmishes through the administrative channels, told the council that although the city had appealed the action of the county site approval committee, apparently preliminary grading work for the drive-in has already started.

According to the county building inspector's office, however, at press time, no building permit for the drive-in theater has been issued.

The 14-acre site on which the theater is proposed is off Union Ave. and McGlincey Lane adjacent to Highway 17. The area, which is virtually surrounded by the City of Campbell, has been designated as in Campbell's "sphere" for the purpose of future planning.

Under Campbell's zoning for the entire area, both in and outside the city limits, a drive-in theater would be prohibited. But under the county zoning such an operation is permissable with a use permit.

COUNTY OKAYS

The County Planning Commission and the supervisors have approved the issuance of the use permit, despite Campbell's objections and vigorous protests from adjacent residents in Campbell, San Jose and county territory.

To complicate matters from the city's viewpoint even more is that the proposed access routes to the theater must traverse property within the city limits of Campbell. City officials maintain that access routes are as much a part of the theater operation as the screen itself.

Therefore, Campbell could not allow the use of the access routes for a theater operation because it would be contrary to the city's ordinances.

In addition, city officials point out, that the theater traffic would cause an additional burden for the Campbell police and the heavy use of Campbell streets would also create a maintenance problem.

Board okays 'Mission College' as name for Santa Clara site

Mission College will be the name of the proposed new Santa Clara campus of West Valley College, the board of trustees of the district decided last Thursday.

The name was the first choice of five final names offered by a committee composed of members of the board, administrative staff, students, faculty, West Valley College Advisory Committee and the Santa Clara Chamber of Commerce.

The group had favored some combination of names including the word "mission" such as Mission City or Mission Valley. The board however, voted unanimously (one member absent) in favor of Mission College.

The committee also recommended that the name "West Valley College" be retained on one or the other of the two campuses planned.

The board deferred to the next meeting the issuance of the order calling the bond election on November 8 and asked for a speed-up in preparation of the working drawings for the proposed engineering technology building.

After holding a brief public hearing, the board adopted the general fund budget of $5,361,888 and a special reserve fund budget of $3,700,449.

The board also requested a temporary transfer of $700,000 in the district's general fund to get over the "dry period" until the district's taxes start coming in.

It was reported also at the board meeting that 1,487 regular and extended day students would be returning in September.

Texaco service station opens this weekend

Dave Gray is the manager of the new Texaco Service station located at 770 W. Hamilton. Holding their grand opening this weekend, August 12 and 13, Gray will feature a free six pack of soft drinks with every Texaco fill-up as well as free balloons and candy for the kiddies. A quality line of merchandise is also being offered for sale during the grand opening.

Gray, who is a graduate of Texaco Delaer Training School and also of the General Motors Tune-up school, has lived for three years at 1521 Capri Drive with Mrs. Gray. Newest member of the family includes 9 months old Denny.

The new Texaco station is located at the corner of Hamilton and the newly-opened San Tomas Expressway. Gray will be assisted by Ray Hanson in the capacity of assistant manager.

City planners to meet Monday

Members of the Planning Commission at their meeting next Monday, Aug. 15, will attempt to formulate some recommendation on the Phase II program of the county expressway system.

If they can come up with a meeting of the minds, the recommendation will be submitted to the City Council on Monday, Aug. 22, when the council holds an informal public hearing on the expressway program.

Other matters before the commission next Monday, include plans for a Jack-in-the-box restaurant at 1450 W. Campbell Ave., and three sign applications submitted by Ad Art, Inc. Aero Drugs, 2075 Winchester; Blendwell on Campbell Ave. and "Freddie's" at San Tomas and Campbell have signs pending.

Plans for a facility of the Campbell Baptist Church at 163 Sunnyside Ave. also have been submitted. Several proposed zone changes and annexations will also be in the commission's agenda.

Musical group has accident

Four local boys, members of a musical group called the Camonts, are having a hard time performing these days due to an accident. En route to a benefit performance at the Easter Seal Crippled Children's Camp they dropped their instruments from the top of their car. When they were retrived, they were so smashed up they were useless.

The instruments included a bass guitar, drums, another guitar and three amplifiers. All four of the boys are students from Campbell and Westmont High Schools. They are Kenneth Ruano, Jim Rainville, Kevin Barnes and Jim Giguere.

City finances concern council

City finances played a big part in the City Council meeting on Monday. The predetermined tax rate was officially set for the city but council members backed away from setting the tax rate for the Campbell Lighting District which goes under city control for the first time next year.

In other fiscal matters, the City Council also awarded the contract for the sale of bonds of Local Improvement District No. 13 to Schwabacher & Co. and took underground utilities. Also discussed was the possibility of advancing funds to get underground utilities started in the Hamilton Ave. commercial developments.

In deferring action on the adoption of a tax rate for the Campbell Lighting District, all the council members expressed displeasure in the basis for the tax rate which will be a 50-cent per $100 charge on land only and not improvements.

The council thought the matter should be researched further to see if the basis could not be changed to the way it was when the county had jurisdiction rather than following the style of Saratoga which has the land only formula.

In the routine resolution before the city's tax rate of $1.27 was set, it was specified that $1,593,833 was the amount necessary to meet the municipal requirements for the year.

Councilman Charles Rose indicated his disapproval with some of the features of the city budget by casting a lone negative vote on the resolution and tax rate resolutions.

The council at the same meeting also awarded the contract for the David Ave. storm drain to Caprista Underground for $8094.80, lowest of the seven bids submitted. The engineer's estimate for the job was $9400.

Admission tests

The last session of testing for Fall sessions of West Valley College will be given at 8:15 a.m. and 12:45 p.m., Saturday, Aug. 13, and 6:15 p.m., Wednesday, Aug. 17, Dr. Wallace W. Hall, college president, has announced.

Students with admission cards will be admitted first.

FRED'S LIQUORS

It is always a pleasure to call attention to a life-long Campbellite who has remained to win a respected niche for himself in the business community of his own home town and Fred Kurasaki is just such a person.

Mr. Kurasaki and his pretty wife Jane operate Fred's Liquors at 1707 S. Bascom Ave., an attractive, modern store carrying a full line of liquors, wines and beer as well as all appropriate party needs. While their completeness of stock and convenient location with plenty of off street parking would be ample reason for the store's growing patronage, perhaps the real reason is this couple's outgoing friendliness and their helpfullness in the selection of just the right beverages for every occassion. The customer can't help but feel that here he is dealing with an old friend rather than just a clerk. Customers appreciate, too, the hours maintained at Fred's Liquors: Sunday through Thursday 10 a.m. to midnight and Friday and Saturday 'til 1 a.m.

Mr Kurasaki was born in Campbell in 1929 and will be remembered as a 1948 graduate of Campbell High School. Mr. and Mrs. Kurasaki have seen their business grow with the area just as their own stature in the business community has grown. We wish only success for this young couple who have made a success out of "staying at home".

Enrollment at WV College jumps 72 per cent in year

Figures recently released by the State of California on average daily attendance (ADA) for two-year-old West Valley College show a gigantic 72 percent increase over the previous year, Dr. Wallace W. Hall, college president, has announced.

ADA is the system used by the State in awarding of funds to school districts.

The total figure for West Valley College for the 1965-66 fiscal year was computed at 3,033.62, of which 2,901.54 were regular students, 125 were summer session students last fiscal year, and 6.9 were in classes for adults.

This compares with the 1964-65 total of 1,763, but, Dr. Hall pointed out, the sharp increase cannot be wholly credited to mere growth.

"We were also adding the second year, the sophomore year, to our operation. In many cases thus bringing in students who couldn't have attended in the first year we were providing classes," he explained.

A total ADA figure of 4,046 listed by the State includes 1,031 students whose tuition is being paid for by this district, but who are taking classes at other junior colleges, notably Foothill and San Jose City colleges, Dr. Hall said.

This program is permitted where courses required by a particular student are not offered at West Valley College, or where there is a coordinated program with the other colleges to provide that there would be no duplication of classes.

State funds received from the ADA apportionment totals $560,585, as against $241,607 received last year.

Council wants Campbell band in Rose Parade

By official action on Monday night, the City Council urged the Tournament of Roses committee in Pasadena to invite the Campbell High School band to march in the Rose Parade on New Year's Day.

The resolution adopted by the council will be submitted along with letters from parents, civic leaders and others calling the attention of the Pasadena group to the record of the Buc marching band has made under the direction of Bill Perkins.

If the invitation is received, the band and its supporters will embark on a fund-raising program to pay for the trip. Approximately one-half of the amount needed has been pledged already, it has been reported.

In another official action, the City Council by resolution commended Mrs. Evelyn Morgan, who is retiring as chairman of the Campbell Youth Guidance Center after serving in that position for 10 years.

The resolution called attention to Mrs. Morgan's diligent efforts on behalf of the young people of Campbell, who have had difficulty with the law, to make them useful citizens.

The energy contained in one level teaspoon of sugar could be used to raise an autobile 10 feet.

CLOSE TO HOME--Pictured is the part of the Nature Trail at Villa Montalvo in Saratoga. The mile-long trail winds through a wide variety of planted and natural flora, ranging from dry chaparral to moist redwood groves and shady stands of bay trees.

The Nature Trail, part of the county's Arboretum project at Montalvo, is less than 15-minutes away from the heart of Campbell. The private, non-profit Villa Montalvo Association operates the central buildings and grounds as a cultural and garden center for the general public.

Santa Clara County's park and recreation department leases Montalvo's surrounding acreage. A large proportion of the varied flora of Montalvo was planted by the late James D. Phelan, a former U.S. senator from California, who established the estate at his private home in 1912 and developed it into an outstanding showplace.

Joyce Jenkins and Lorin Hunter say "I do"

MRS. LORIN EDWARD HUNTER

James J. Jenkins gave his daughter, Joyce, in marriage to Lorin Edward Hunter at evening nuptials held last month at the Westminster Presbyterian Church. Rev. Marvin Rickard officiated at the formal double ring evening ceremony. The bride, a petite brunette, was lovely in a gown of white crepe, featuring three quarter length sleeves, fitted bodice and flowing chapel train.

Her cascade bouquet of white carnations and roses was centered with an orchid, and a single white rose secured her elbow length illusion veil.

Sandra Bringhurst of Campbell, the maid of honor, was attired in a shrimp colored crepe gown with a net covered bodice. She carried a bouquet of white shattered mums. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Adelle Dawson and Miss Judy Hille of San Jose. Their gowns of shrimp colored crepe were styled similar to the maid of honor and they carried white mums. David Faris was the best man and ushers were Ronald Green and James Jenkins, brother of the bride. Mrs. Mary Ann Seaburg, the bridegroom's sister, sang "Because" and "Wedding Prayer" before the ceremony.

A reception for 125 guests was held in the church hall where a three tiered wedding cake was cut by the newleyweds. They left for a wedding trip to the Highlands Inn in Carmel after the reception and are now making their home in San Jose.

Joyce is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jenkins of 313 West Latimer Ave., Campbell, and a 1963 graduate of Campbell High School. She attends evening classes at San Jose City College and is employed by Radio Station KEEN.

Lorin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hunter of 1636 Trona, San Jose. Following graduation from Abraham Lincoln High School he attended San Jose City College and is now employed as a draftsman for Western Electric Company in Sunnyvale.

Bloodmobile will be at local hospital on Friday

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at Campbell Community Hospital on Friday, Aug. 12 between 2 and 4 p.m. seeking blood donors to increase their supply of blood for hospitals in the region and its share of the assigned defense quota.

A new policy has been adopted by the Four-County Red Cross Blood Center. Each person donating a pint of blood through a Red Cross facility will be issued a credit card entitling him and the members of his family their blood needs for a period of one year.

This would include husband or wife, children under 18 and children over 18 who are unable to give blood; parents and parents-in-law; grandparents and grandparents-in-law; dependents as defined by the Department of Internal Revenue who are unable to give blood.

Group Coverage is also offered. If 20 per cent of a group donates during the year, the total group and their families are eligible for all the blood they need during the year.

The Red Cross will continue to meet the blood needs of emergencies and hardship cases irrespective of the recipient's coverage when blood is available. A hardship case is defined as a person who is not eligible to donate and who has no immediate family or friends able to donate. An emergency case is defined as one who could be endangered by waiting until blood donors could be obtained.

A number of civic and community organizations are expected to turn out in force on Friday to donate blood.

LEAVING FOR TOKYO --Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hawkinson left Friday for a year in Tokyo missionary service field.

Missionary service calls local couple

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hawkinson, 1205 McBain, embarked Aug. 4 on the President Wilson for Tokyo in fulfillment of a dream they have dreamed for several years. Oscar and Grace, both in their sixties, have for many years admired the work done by the missionaries, and now they feel that the time has come when they can aid in the missionary field by actual physical contribution.

The Hawkinson's, who are paying their own way to Tokyo, will work for at least a year in the Christian Academy in Japan, an interdenominational school for missionary children from first through high school.

For this work the Hawkinson's will receive no pay. They will serve as dormitory supervisors for a group of 12 children in the boarding school and pay for their own expenses other than the actual bed facilities.

Campbell residents since 1928, Hawkinson is a retired postal employee who has been working for the last year as full-time custodian for the First Methodist Church of Campbell. They are the parents of three sons, all of whom have completed college and are launched on full-time careers of their own.

Instead of settling back to rest on their laurels and enjoying a leisurely retirement, the Campbell couple have instead chosen to devote a year of their lives to helping others.

Mrs. Hawkinson is a R. N. who has worked for many years at the San Jose Hospital.

The couple will be making their new adventure under the sponsorship of the Japan Evangelical Mission of Three Hills, Ontario. While they are in Tokyo a missionary family, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Schoonmacher, and their three sons will be living in the McBain Ave. home. Dr. Schoonmacher is an eye surgeon on leave from India.

The Hawkinson's are members of the Willow Glen Baptist Church.

Approximately 400 English speaking children of missionaries from all over Japan attend the missionary school which is comparable to "state-side" schools in academic subjects.

The education the children receive enables them to enter United States colleges and compete on the same educational level with their contemporaries.

Christian Jew to expound the Lords Supper

Harry Bucalstein will be the special speaker at First Christian Church, 1975 Pollard Rd., Campbell, this coming Sunday, Aug. 14 both morning and evening services, 10:55 a.m. and 7:00 p.m.

Bucalstein was born in Poland, and emigrated to the United States at the age of seven. He received the customary Jewish religious training, but was converted to the Christian religion at the age of 16, and became a minister in 1931.

HARRY BUCALSTEIN

In July of 1965 he was appointed as Field Evangelist for the American Board of Missions to the Jews. His particular ministry is to conduct meetings in various churches for the purpose of explaining the Jewish backgrounds of Christianity, to enable New Testament believers to appreciate the Jewish heritage of their faith.

Christ in the Passover is a sermonic demonstration given to show the Christian relation to the Ancient Feast.

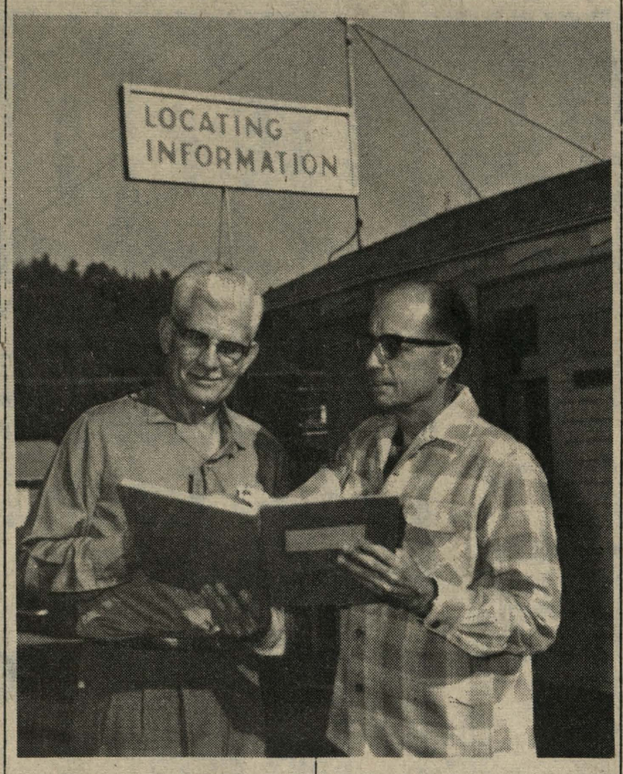
The traditional items will be set on the table, the speaker dons the costume of the Orthodox Jews and explains the items and procedures of the Seder Feast which predates the Birth of Christ by 1500 years.

Special emphasis will be given to the redemptive significance of each item, and the meaning of the gestures of Christ at the "Last Supper".

The unleavened bread, Passover wine, and the procedure relating the two shed much light on the meaning of Christian communion.

Beside giving Christians insight into Jewish tradition this service hopes to create understanding in helping the Jewish people of the community know more about the Christian religion and help Christians to appreciate the Jewish heritage and alleviate any anti-Jewish feelings.

The community is invited to attend.



PLAN ADVENTIST CONCLAVE--Pastor R. H. Kezer (left) of the Los Gatos Seventh-Day Adventist Church and Pastor R. H. Krick, minister of the Campbell congregation, discuss plans for the annual 10-day conclave of the Central California section of the Adventist Church to be held at the 75 acre camp meeting grounds at Soquel, Calif. on Aug. 10 through 20.

Some 15,000 members of the 90 congregations are expected to attend.

HELP WITH BARBECUE--Mr. and Mrs. Benny Garcia of Campbell and their little son, Steve, are assisting with plans for the fifth annual Carmelite barbecue and Fiesta to be held Sunday, Aug. 14, from noon until 7 p.m. at Senter Park, 2800 Senter Rd., San Jose.

A barbecued chicken dinner will be served and there will be booths featuring games, religious goods and food. The purpose of the fiesta is to promote educational projects and adult lay education at the Carmelite Monastery located at 12455 Clayton Rd., San Jose.

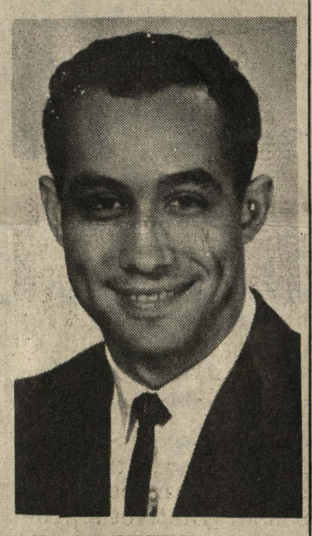
Visiting pastor to lead revival

The Campbell Church of God of Prophecy, 250 Virginia St., will be the scene of special revival services Aug. 16-21 at 7:30 p.m.

Featured evangelistic speaker for the six nights revival will be Rev. H. Foster Bell from Kaneohe, Hawaii. Foster Bell is the son of Rev. H. W. Bell local pastor of the Campbell church and is himself currently serving as pastor of the Church of God of Prophecy in Kaneohe, Hawaii.

Bell is a graduate of the Church of God of Prophecy's Bible School and has furthered his education at the University of Maryland, Lee Bible College in Cleveland, and is currently studying at the University of Hawaii.

Accompanying Bell on this trip is his wife, Darline. They are serving in Hawaii as a part of the Church's Youth Mission Corps which requires them to provide their own finances. As a result Mrs. Bell has taught in the Hawaii public school system. She is also pursuing her master's degree at the University of Hawaii.



REV. FOSTER BELL

Local pastor, Herman Bell, cordially extends a hearty invitation to everyone to attend the services.

BACK IN PORT

MacKenzie, which is returning after more than two years of operations in the Western Pacific with the U. S. Seventh Fleet.

Notes written by Mrs. Knowles while abroad

Arrived at Cristobal - Atlantic end - about 4 p.m. After dinner some native Panamanians came aboard and did some native dances in costume. Later I watched old fashioned dancing in the ball room and wished I, too, were on the floor (at least that my feet were!).

May 1, 1966

On the Carribean. Ship started rolling noticeably in the night. Continued rough all day. Some were seasick. I spent most of time between breakfast and lunch writing this letter.

There was a Carribean gala costume night - dining and ball rooms gaily decorated. Today the water is very blue, not rough, but covered with white caps. Just saw the island of Cuba - Nassau tomorrow.

May 3, 1966

Our ship anchored in Nassau Harbor early a.m. About 8:30 the "tenders" - sort of 2-story large launches began their schedule to take passengers ashore - about a 20-minute trip. They kept up a continuous coming and going until the last one returned at 5:30 and ship left at 6 p.m. Had a three hour tour of Nassau. The town looks very clean - well painted and prosperous.

The majority (it seems) of inhabitants are very black, but neat and well dressed. The tour guide said they all make good money. There were lots of beautiful flowers and gardens. Reminded me of Hawaii. We went to a garden to see a program of trained flamingos! They obeyed military orders as they marched around the parade grounds.

They are quite beautiful - pink because their diet must be shrimp. If not, their color gradually fades out to white. It was terribly hot at the show, but in shade or on water a nice breeze kept the atmosphere quite comfortable.

B. of A. opens Saigon branch

A branch of the Bank of America, the nation's largest commercial bank, is now open in Saigon, according to bank officials.

The new branch becomes the California-based bank's 22nd in Asia.

Under the permit granted to it by the Republic of Vietnam, the bank will engage in general commercial banking activities with emphasis on the financing of foreign trade as well as industrial and agricultural development.

According to Louis J. Mulkern, head of the bank's Southeast Asia and Australasia division, the branch also will operate banking facilities at U.S. military bases in Vietnam. A waiting period of at least 30 days is required under the Vietnamese permit before the military facilities can be established, Mulkern said.

The bank will operate the military facilities as an agent of the U.S. Treasury, he noted, and will act as a depository for the Treasury.

Relative speed provides base for accidents

Relative speed on our streets and highways is one of the most frequent elements in the traffic accident picture, according to Supervising Inspector D. J. O'Connell, Commander of the California Highway Patrol's coastal zone.

"Speed relatively too fast or too slow compared to the normal flow of traffic, creates accident causing situations on both two lane and multiple lane roadways," Inspector O'Connell emphasized. "The faster than average driver changes lanes frequently and tends to follow far too closely for safety the car ahead in his effort to hurry."

"The slower than average driver is also dangerous when he fails to drive in the right hand lane on multiple lane roads or drags along with several cars following behind on two lane roads," he continued.

"Trying to rush through traffic or holding traffic back are both hazardous actions, usually filled with violations of the rules."

"Competition in traffic should be limited to trying to be the safest driver," Inspector O'Connell concluded. "And the best way to be a safe driver is to obey the rules, including those applying to speed limits, fast or slow."

Grass Roots

In nature's garden, mulching just comes naturally. Falling leaves and blossoms, pine needles, sticks and sundry debris all accumulate around the base of a plant, helping to shade its roots and preserve moisture through the long, dry months of summer and fall.

What happens in our gardens, however, works toward the opposite end. In the course of garden housekeeping, we rake and pick up natural mulches, leaving the bare ground exposed to sun and wind, both of which draw moisture from the soil.

A well-laid mulch prevents surface hardening and cracking which sometimes plagues sun-baked soil. It retards evaporation and protects shallow-rooted plants from sun burn.

It also reduces the weed problem and that in itself is worth considering. And, because it maintains a favorable surface condition, it also aids in water penetration.

All shrubs and even trees benefit from mulching. Shallow-rooted shrubs such as Fuchsias, Camellias, Azaleas and Gardenias are especially enhanced. So are such shrubs as Hibiscus and others from the tropics where heavy natural mulches are the rule.

Which mulch to use? There are several: Peat moss and leaf mold are the two most widely used on acid loving plants such as those mentioned above. Bark, sawdust and wood shavings are also common. Even gravel makes a good mulch and is often used by landscape designers because it is easy to maintain.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

Disenchantment with the Poverty Program is by no means confined to Santa Clara County.

Here in Washington, Sargent Shriver's huge command post in the poverty war, the Office of Economic Opportunity, is jokingly referred to as "Shriver's Fuddle Factory". While Mr. Shriver continues to claim fantastic achievements and make glowing promises for the future, two Congressmen, Charles Goodell (R-N. Y.) and Albert Quie (R-Minn.), are exposing mismanagement in waves of factual material.

The Job Corps drop out rate is ten times the graduation rate and in two years each of the 5,090 Job Corps graduates has cost the taxpayers about $50,000. Little more than one-half of the graduates are holding jobs today.

The "Fuddle Factory" achieved a ridiculous pinnacle in a recent grant of $43,511 to the Daniel Boone Human Development Corporation for administering and staffing a community action program in St. Charles, Lincoln, Warren, and Montgomery Counties in Missouri.

With great fanfare Mr. Shriver's press agent announced the grant and said "approximately 120,000 needy persons are found scattered in every town and along rural roads in an area sixty miles long and forty miles wide".

This press agent's description didn't please the Congressman representing the area. Adding up his own figures and checking them with the Census Bureau, he found that the total population of the entire four counties was only 105,000. He notified Mr. Shriver's office that they were in effect telling the world that everyone in the area was impoverished plus 15,000 who were yet unborn.

The Office of Economic Opportunity refigured and then amended its claim of 120,000 persons down to 80,000 of the 105,000 total. The Congressman still protested so finally OEO agreed that there were probably only about 5,000 needy families in the area.

Recently $163,000 was set aside for legal aid services for nine counties in Missouri without consultation with the local Bar Associations through whom such services should be channelled. It turned out that the application was submitted by a law professor who is a consultant to the Washington office of OEO.

These are not isolated instances. In fact, if the overlapping directorships and memberships of various organizations involved in the poverty war were studied carefully, one could find hundreds of cases which, though technically legal, come mighty close to being a conflict of interest and ethically wrong.

There is serious doubt in Washington that Mr. Shriver truly wants to correct what is wrong with his operation. The Durham, North Carolina, community action agency used poverty war money to provide transportation to a partisan precinct meeting. After complaints, the practice was supposedly barred but three weeks later staff members of the Durham poverty office were at it again and Shriver has done nothing.

The trial and error period should have ended by now, and unless steps are taken to put it on a businesslike basis the poverty program will collapse in dismal failure.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE
SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Q. Has the amount of earning that a person can have and still get benefits been changed?
A. Starting with January, 1966, you can earn up to $1500 a year without having any benefits withheld.
Q. If I elect to start my widow's benefit at age 60, will I get the full amount?
A. No. The full widow's benefit is payable at age 62 or later. If you take it at age 60, it will be reduced 13-1/3 percent. If you wait until age 61, it will be reduced 6-2/3 percent.
Q. I am over 65, but never worked under social security. Am I eligible for Medicare?
A. Probably. Nearly all people 65 or older are eligible for Medicare. There is no work requirement. Get in touch with your nearest social security office for information about enrolling in the program.
Q. I filed for widow's benefits last year at age 62. This year I became disabled. Can I now file for disability benefits on my own record?
A. Yes. Under the new law it is possible for you to become entitled to disability benefits based on your own earning, even though you were previously receiving widow's benefits.

Campbell ranks fourth highest in vacancies in apartments

Campbell has the fourth highest vacancy rate of the cities of Santa Clara County with more than 500 apartment units, a report on housing has revealed.

The report was made by the division of business at San Jose State College under Dr. Theodore J. Sielaff, professor of business. It was based on data included in the recent special census.

Los Gatos had a 20% vacancy rate followed by Cupertino, 19%; Milpitas, 18%; Campbell, 18%; and San Jose with 17%.

Palo Alto had the lowest of the cities with 9%. Others listed included Santa Clara, 14%; Sunnyvale, 14%; Mountain View, 12%. The unincorporated areas showed only a 6% vacancy rate.

In the single-family category Campbell ranked 11th among the 16 cities of the county with 3.4% vacancy rate. Only five cities, Santa Clara, 2.0%; Palo Alto, 2.5%; Sunnyvale, 2.7%; and Los Altos, 2.7%, had a better rate.

Alviso and Milpitas were high with 9.7%, followed by Morgan Hill with 8.9%, Los Gatos with 7.0% and San Jose with 5.9%. The rate in the unincorporated areas was 5.5%.

The report revealed that there were 4292 single family units in Campbell with only 147 vacant.

The report also disclosed that there were 244 structures in the city with 50-units or more and there were 30 vacancies or 12.3%.

Surprisingly, the report showed that there were 1170 four-plexes in the city with 236 vacancies or 20.2%.

Another large group were the 20-49 unit apartments with 290 structures and 41 vacancies or a 14.1% 14.1%.

The report also tabulated 67 trailers with only one vacancy for 1.5%.

Campbell had a total of 6974 dwelling units with 582 vacancies for the 8.3% overall. The report also specified that in Campbell there were 1934 of four-plexes or more and 764 of five-plexes or more.

'Implied consent' law involves dri nk drivers

California Highway Patrol Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden recently said that one of the most significant pieces of enforcement legislation to emerge from the 1966 legislative session was the implied consent law.

The new law, sponsored by Senator Randolph Collier and Assemblyman Pearce Young, states that any person driving a motor vehicle "upon a highway shall be deemed to have given his consent to a chemical test...for the purpose of determining alcohol content of blood if lawfully arrested for offenses arising out of acts allegedly committed while driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor."

Crittenden said that Governor Edmund G. Brown had fought for this legislation for many years and has given his complete and full support to its use in enforcing the State's law against drunk driving.

"The drinking driver is becoming more and more of a problem in California," the Patrol Commissioner said, "and this new enforcement tool will help reduce accidents in which the drinking driver is a factor because convictions for drunk driving will become more certain and these drivers will be removed from the highways. It will also have a deterrent effect upon drivers who may consider drinking and driving."

"This law will also benefit persons who, because of illness or other reasons, appear to be intoxicated. They will be able to prove that they are not under the influence of alcohol."

A recent two-year patrol study of single vehicle fatalities revealed that 74 percent of the 871 dead drivers investigated had been drinking. The average blood alcohol level was .19 percent.

"These drivers killed only themselves," Crittenden said. "They could easily have taken someone else with them.
